Stepping into the shoes of Lemuel Gulliver, the Senior Class '67 would invite you to voyage with them through the strange and intriguing lands of the Lilliputians and the Brobdignagians. Travelling further you might even recognize an occasional Yahoo or two, not to mention those unique Houyhnhnms.

Contents

Seniors 6

"I was looked upon as the greatest Prodigy that ever appeared in the World; . . . and I could perform those Actions which will be recorded forever in the Chronicles of that Empire, while Posterity shall hardly believe them."

Undergraduates 42

"When bending my eyes downward as much as I could, I perceived it to be a human Creature not six Inches high."

Graduation 54

"Whereupon my Chains were immediately unlocked, and I was at full Liberty . . . I made my Acknowledgments . . ."

Athletics 60

"I was terrified at the sight of these enormous men . . . but by merely strutting fearlessly in front of these animals, I was able to face them."

Activities 78

"Five or six of those Candidates petition the Emperor to entertain his Majesty and the Court with a Dance."

Faculty 108

"He asked, what Methods were used to cultivate the Minds and Bodies of our young Nobility; and in what kind of Business they commonly spent the first and teachable Part of their Lives."

Senior Activities 124

"The People in the Streets walked fast, looked wild, their Eyes fixed . . . Their outward Garments were adorned with the Figures of Suns, Moons, and Stars, interwoven with those of Fiddles, Flutes, Harps, Trumpets, Guittars, Harpsicords, and many more Instruments of Musick . . ."

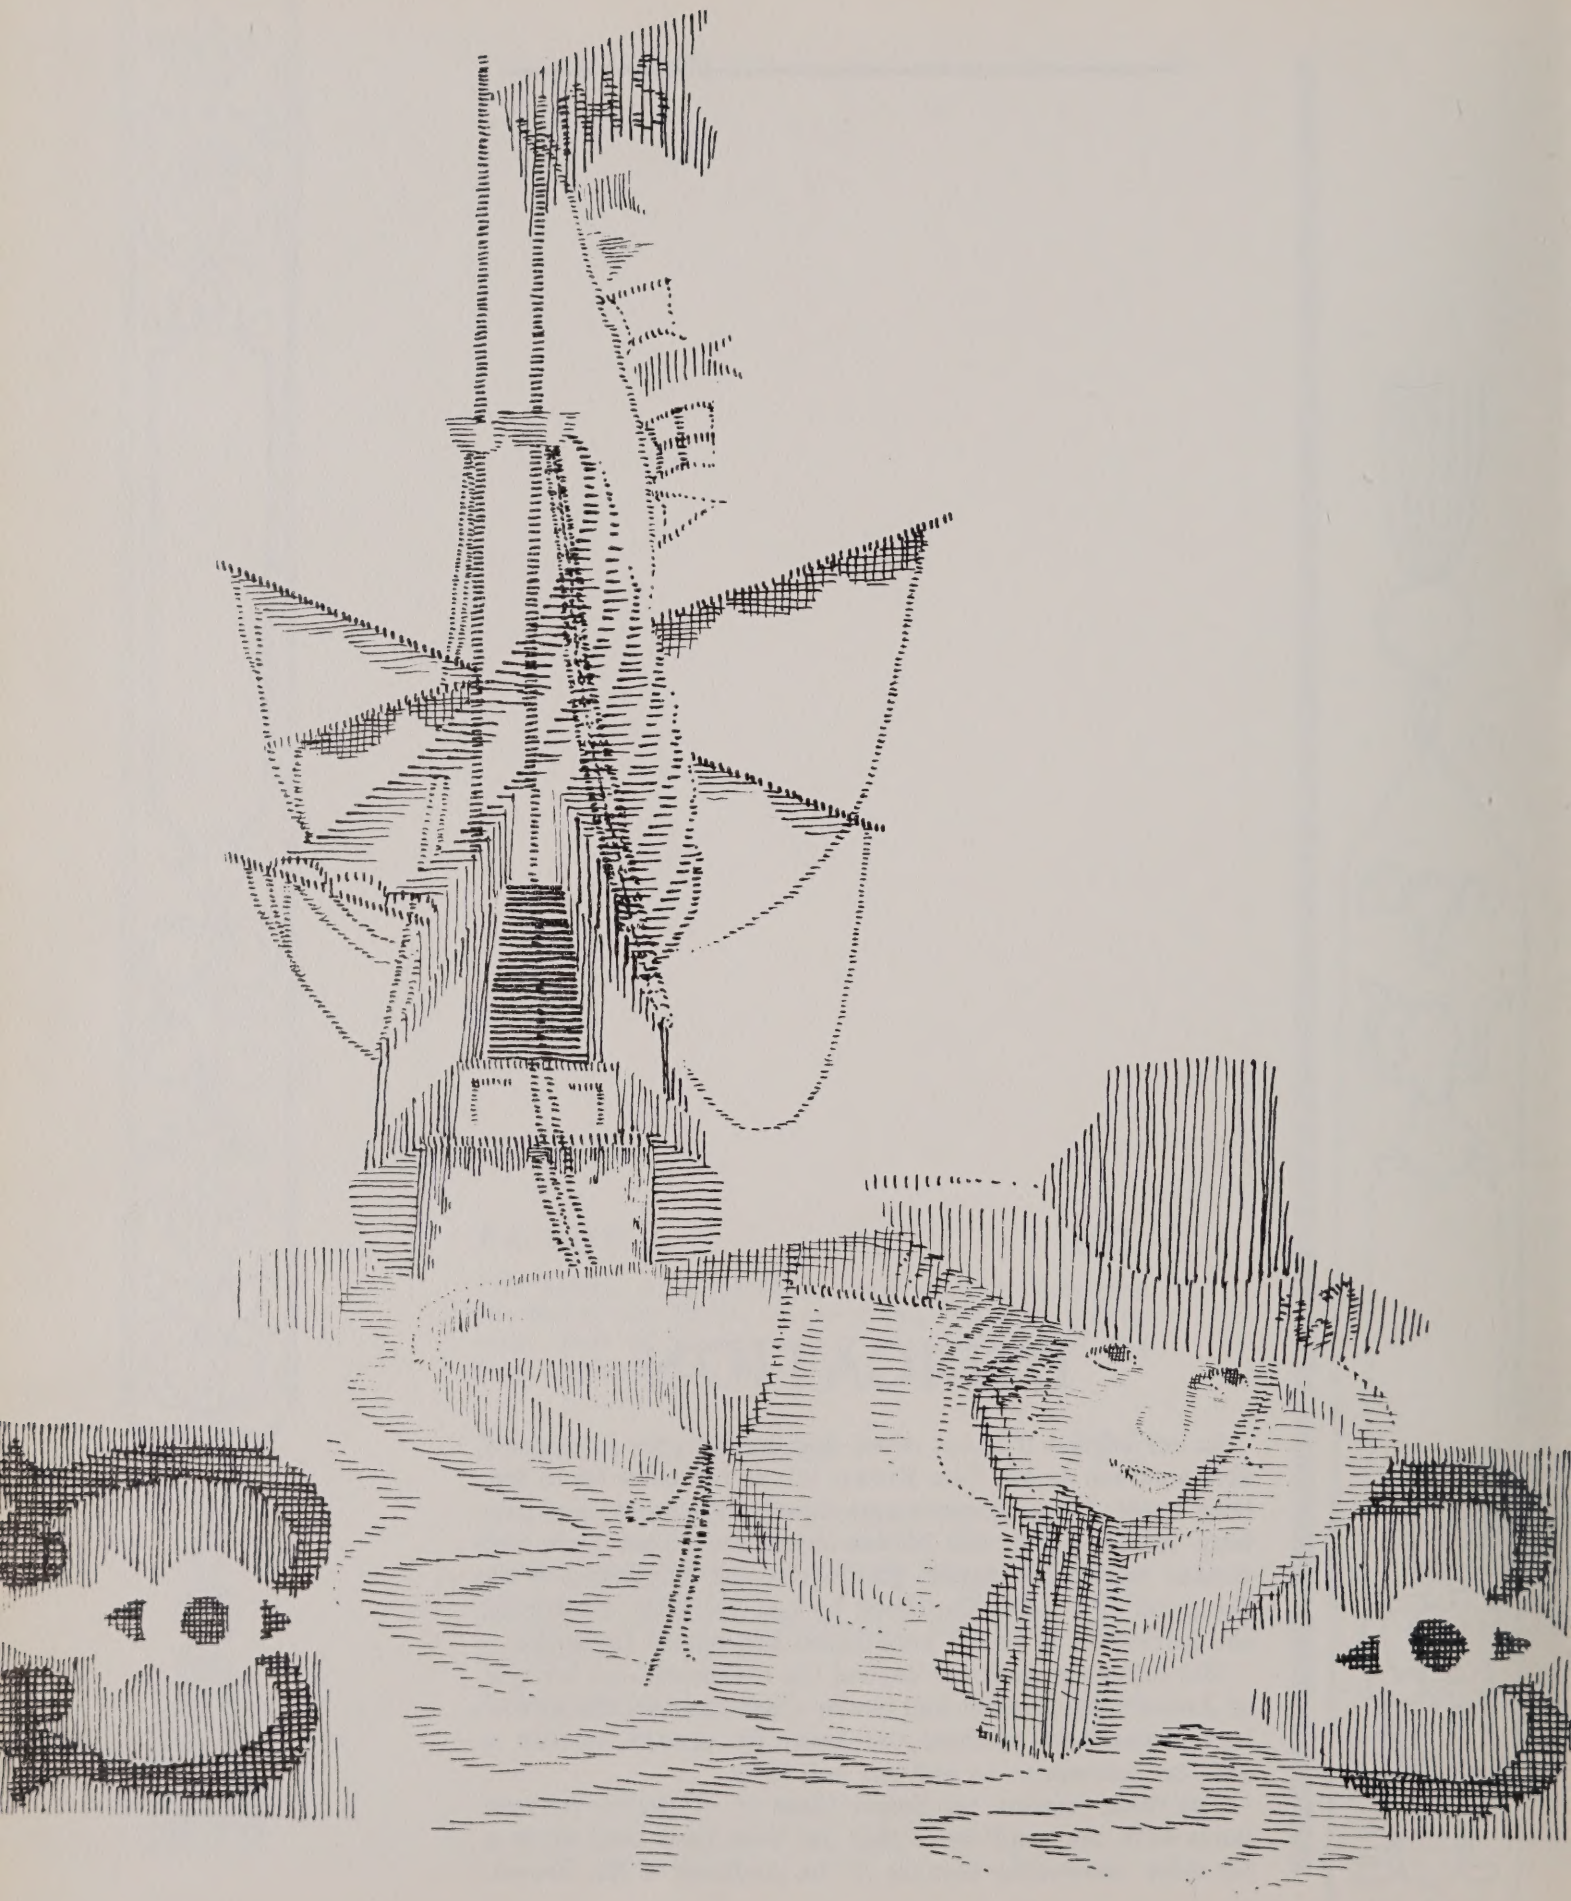
DEDICATION

In our travels it is not often that we discover so memorable a person as Mr. Tom Brown, whose influence on us has been great. In his physics and chemistry classes, we have been introduced to the hidden mysteries culled from the distant worlds of Laputa, Balnibarbi, and Luggnagg. With the mind of a noble Laputian, he has patiently unravelled the intricacies of veiled hypotheses and buried formulae.

His influence went far beyond the classroom—as his role of Junior Class advisor and Senior Class booster. His infectious enthusiasm sparked our own. He always showed a genuine interest in us and our activities.

For these reasons, the Senior Class of '67 leaves for new lands with the confidence that our lives have been made a bit more seaworthy because of the guidance of Mr. Brown.



"I was looked upon as the greatest Prodigy that ever appeared in the World ...and I could perform those Actions which will be recorded forever in the Chronicles of that Empire, while Posterity shall hardly believe them..."

The Seniors

Quiet, Modest, Unassuming

Quiet, modest, unassuming, these were the things we remember about our classmate, Billy Rogers. But we remember him for something else, something more positive, more active. He was a classmate with "heart."

When he got on the other end of a hockey stick, he always put his heart into the game. It was the same when he was with his friends, he had a heart that checked criticism of others and undue pride in himself. He always seemed to have a quiet concern for others.

We're sorry Billy won't be marching with us to get his diploma at graduation this year, but we're proud to have him introduce his fellow classmates with whom he shared the most meaningful years of his life.

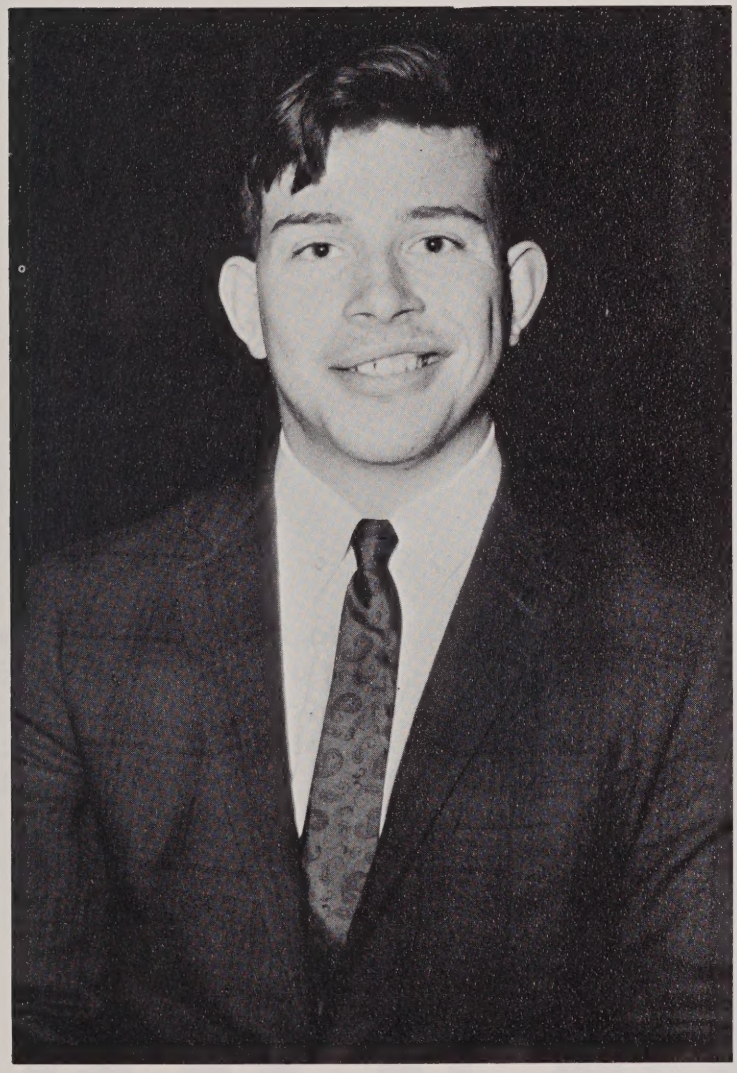
In Memory of ...

RUSSELL SMALL



More than anything else, Russell Small's life at Walpole High School could be characterized by a restless enthusiasm, an enthusiasm that swept through all of his activities with a zest for life.

Those of us who knew Russell — both within and outside of the school — will miss that enthusiasm as we mourn his tragic and untimely death.

"When bending my Eyes downward as much as I could, I perceived it to be a human creature not six inches high... the most pernicious race of little vermin that Nature ever suffered to crawl upon the earth."

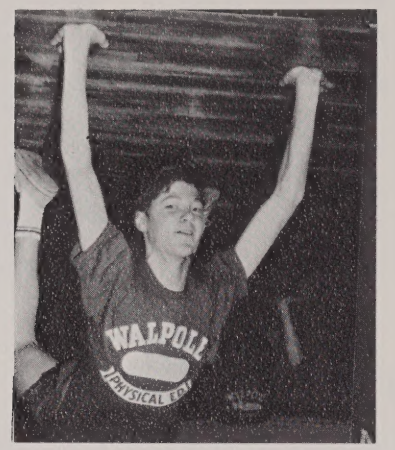
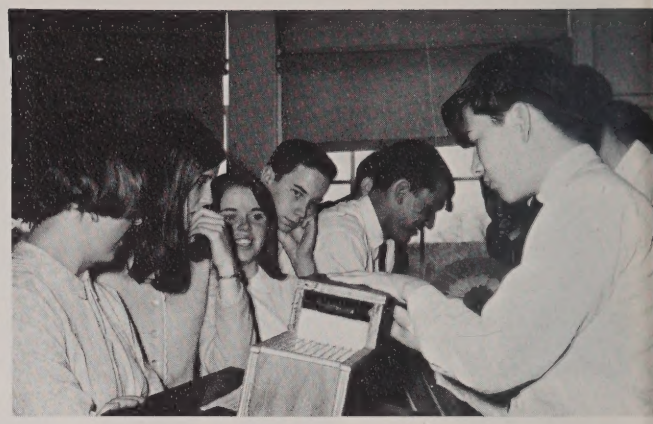
Lilliputians in Action



A new dance craze came to Walpole this year ...

We are so winning!

Next year I go out for PING PONG!



Mike sets the trap.

No response ...

A mongoose a day keeps the teacher away.

Mike springs his mongoose on Mrs. Thompson.

Senior Class Song

Our school is Walpole High
And we are proud to say,
We team up drive and spirit,
To learn from day to day.

Walpole, we've done our best,
To strive for goals ahead,
Though we have sometimes waivered
We've never been misled.

When all is said and done,
Our school remains the same
For future generations
To bear up its good name.

Chorus
Walpole, Oh Walpole High
We're here to sing your praise,
Proclaim and magnify your name,
Spread knowledge of your name.

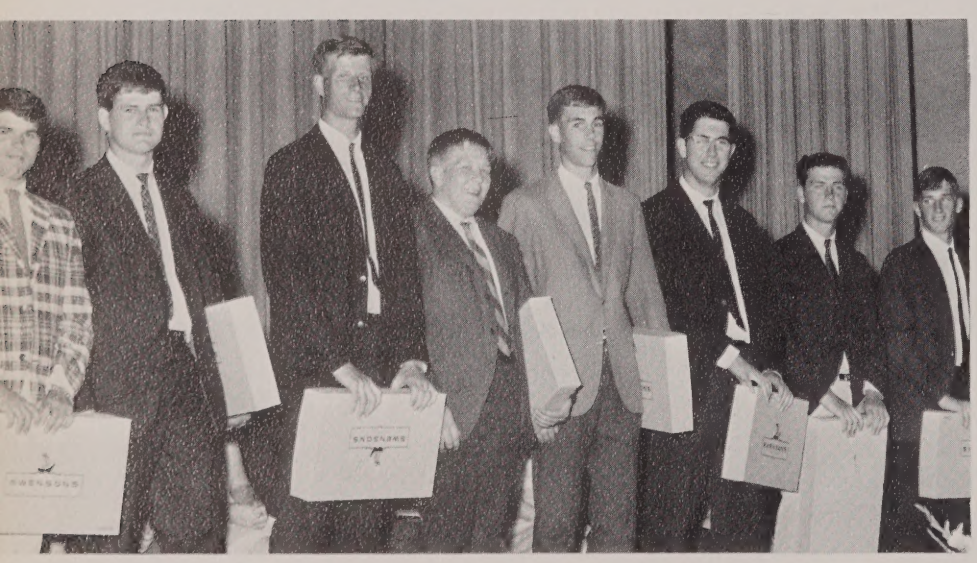
Fact and Fancy Delight Class

Though it was one of those oppressively humid New England evenings, parents, relatives, and friends filled the auditorium for Class Night on June 2 to hear fact and fancy spun from historians and prophets in the readings of past and future. There were plenty of leftovers as the executors left their spoils to their benefactors in the Class Will. In contrast to the lighter side of the evening's program the yearbook editor, Susan Goodband, dedicated the Log to Mr. Thomas Brown, touching off a whole string of athletic and academic awards that followed. The most unusual and heartwarming presentation of the evening came when Mr. Giandomenico presented his son Paul with the award, Most Valuable Male Player.

"Log" editor Susan Goodband presents dedication gift to Mr. Thomas Brown.



Winners of major athletic awards are D. Wayne, D. Cherry, J. Burke, W. Golding, J. Johnson, J. Troland, T. Shea, and J. Dunn.

Mr. Burke presents John Todd with the John Turco Award.

Mr. Burke gives Paul Giandomenico the award for outstanding hockey.

The girls given blazers as major athletic awards are M. Goodwin, N. Hudson, A. Cunniff, M. Driscoll, P. MacDonald, and S. Clarke.

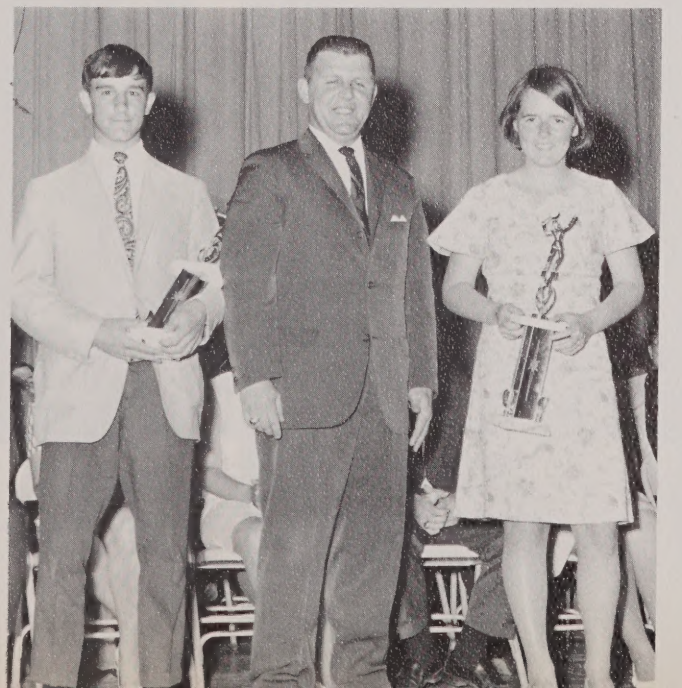
Night Audience

Kenneth Johnson receives the Bausch and Lomb Honorary Science Award.

Donor of the trophies for the Most Valuable Player Awards, Mr. Giandomenico stands with his son P. Giandomenico and other winners T. Hamilton and E. Holman, and Mr. Burke.

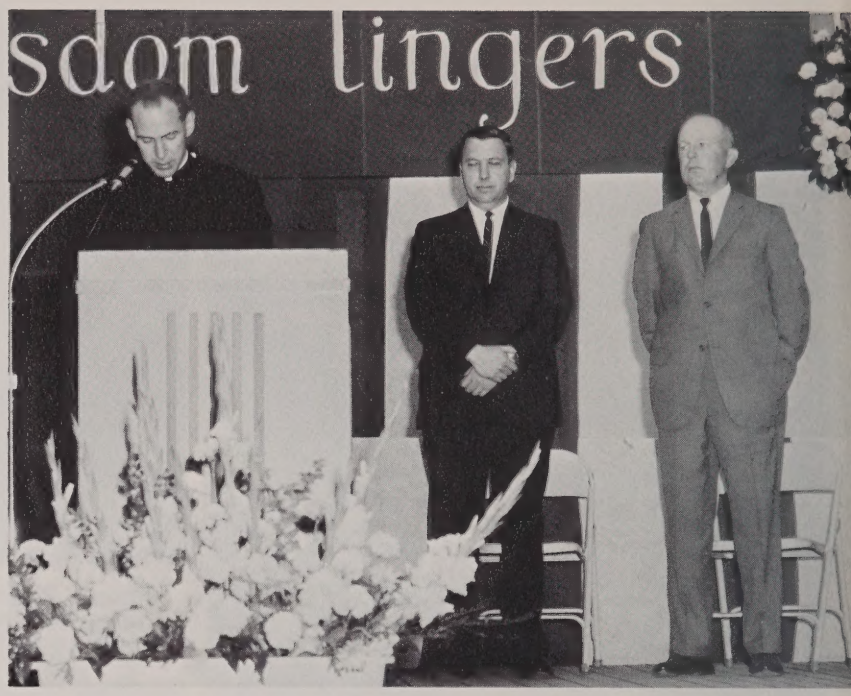
The seniors gather on their night.

William Golding reads the Class Will.



Mr. Burke with the most valuable tennis players, P. Giandomenico and M. Goodwin.

Lisa Okubo is awarded the Martha Metcalf Allen Scholarship.

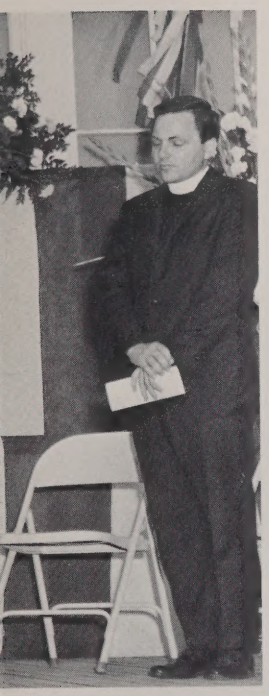


Reverend Francis Mara pronounces the benediction. To his right are Principal W. Stacy, Mr. B. Norwell, and Reverend Leo Sandon, Jr.

Against the backdrop of their motto, "Knowledge Comes, Wisdom Lingers," 250 seniors marched into their last assembly as the graduating class of 1967. The honor speeches on the commitments of youth, delivered by Tom Hamilton, Kathy Plasmati, Ken Johnson, and Lisa Okubo, the awarding of diplomas, the presentation of awards, all combined to create an enduring memory for the graduates, their parents, and friends.

Final

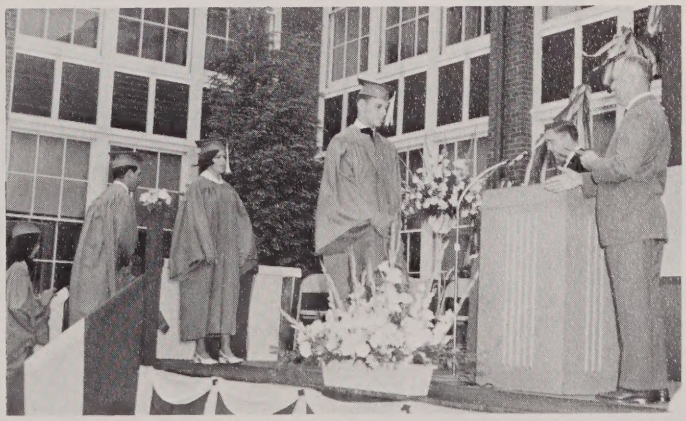
Marshals B. Jankowski and M. Hanley.



Archbearers D. Flynn, D. Berluti, E. Lindblom, M. Salonen, C. Fortnam, N. Birtwell, S. Shamie, L. Perekslis.

assembly

Long may it linger.



Mr Bruce Norwell, chairman of the Walpole School Committee, awards diplomas to class officers L. Okubo, T. Hamilton, K. Plasmati, and J. Todd.

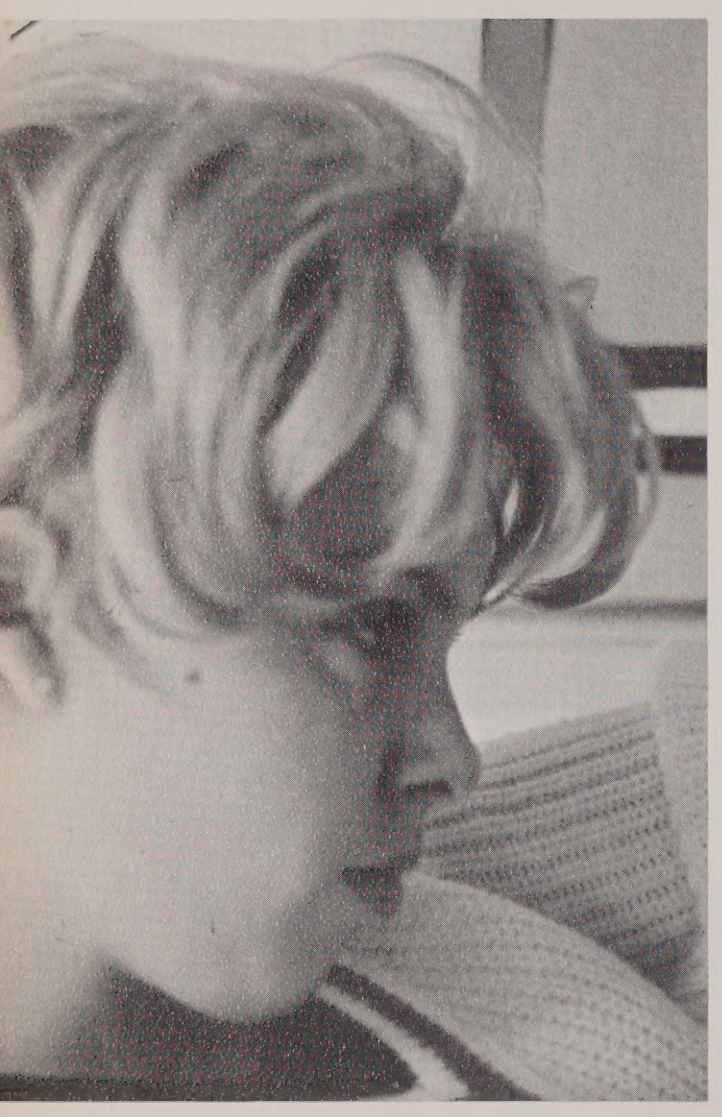
Yearbook Staff Seeks New Approach



Marilyn Rich

The 1967 yearbook staff is proud to present, in The Rebel, a remembrance of this year at Walpole High. It has been a very busy year—all those afternoons with Mr. Schnorbus, working on layout, copy, composition, publicity, and everything else necessary to produce a yearbook. It's been fun, too. We, as the staff, are very grateful to everyone who gave his time: administration, teachers, students, and especially Mr. Schnorbus. The results of our efforts are before you. We hope you enjoy them.

STUDENT COUNCIL

This year was an important one for the Student Council. In addition to holding many of its yearly events, it introduced a proposal to the administration to eliminate finals for qualified seniors. This proposal was accepted on April 6. As a result, any senior who has an average for the year of 85 or better will, at the teacher's discretion, be exempt from taking a final exam in that subject.

Among the usual Student Council activities held during the year 1966-1967 were the Autumn Queen Dance on October 27, the drive to contribute to the Globe Santa in December, the Donkey Basketball Game on April 8, and Bermuda Short Day on May 19. Beginning last September, the school store was made more useful to all by the introduction of the sale of paperback books, notebooks, and other items. In December, the Council organized a school-wide vote by which we were officially nicknamed the "Rebels."

Instead of being "just another club," the Student Council has become a more important and effective part of the student body.

J. Bullard, K. Plasmati, J. Johnson, and N. Hudson discuss student protest procedures.

Forget Me Not

The Junior Class of 1968 held their Prom at the Blue Hills Country Club on April 17, 1967. Although the weather outside was dreary, the atmosphere inside was warm and bright. The music was unforgettable and all there enjoyed the entertainment provided. A memorable experience, the Prom was one of the highlights of the school year.

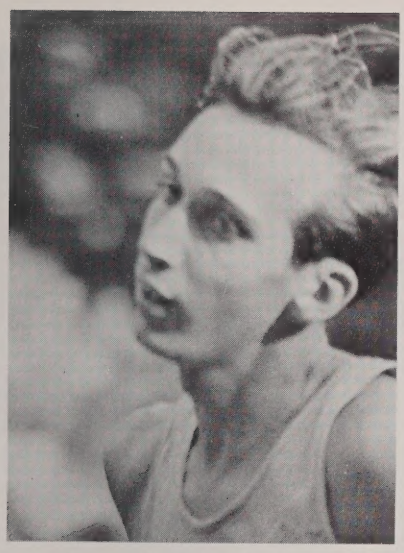
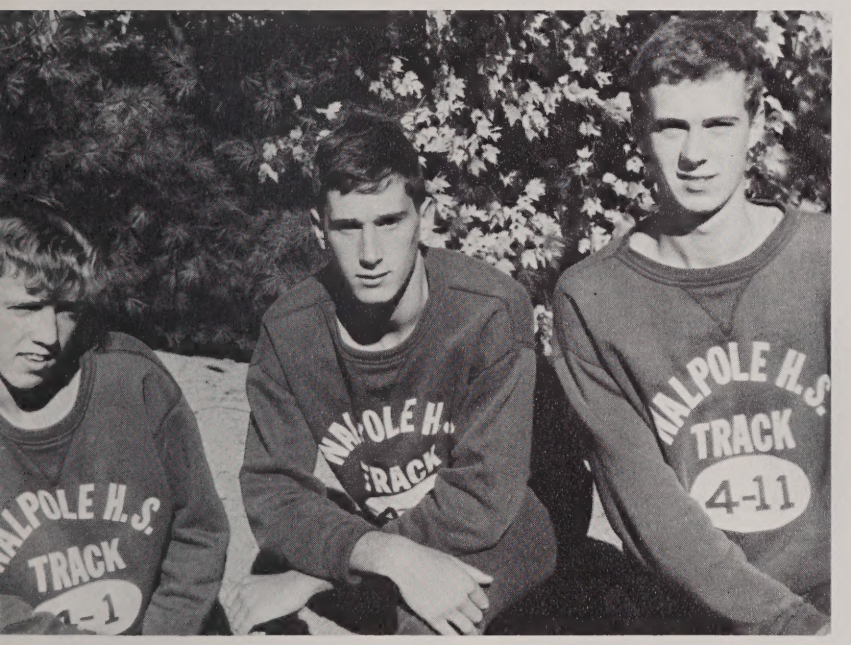
A Winning Season.....



Last lap to victory.

The 1966 season for the Cross Country Team proved to be a very profitable one. Ray's boys brought home a winning record and finished in a tie for third place in the league standings. Russel Mattson and Gary Peyton sparkled as they shared first and second place throughout the season. The Bay State Conference Meet was held at Walpole with our boys placing third.

Because many members on the present team were underclassmen, we are looking forward to even greater victories next year.



Fleet-footed seniors: Joe Farrell, Jack Dunn, and Rich Marvas.

SOCCER

This year's soccer record of 3, 9, and 1 may not be impressive but it makes the beginning of Walpole High's soccer hopes in the Bay State League. The team should prove to reverse its record in the future, and hopes for next season to look good with many players returning, including this year's captain, Kevin Delaney and MVP Bill Wissman.

GIRLS' FIELD HOCKEY

Field Hockey Co-champs, Walpole and Needham, won the first trophy offered to girls in the Bay State League. Led by six members of the Class of '67, we had six wins, a tie, and only one loss. Undefeated Wellesley was third. Braintree lost one game and was fourth. Outstanding seniors were halfback co-captains Marcia Goodwin and Elinor Holman, rookie goalie Patty Macdonald, fullback Nancy Hudson, and wings Chris Jackson and Mary-Ellen Driscoll. Hopes for future glory seem bright with junior Betty Jankowski, the high scorer, and sophomore Janna Lambine, second high scorer.

Ray's Boys

Ray's Boys competed in nine meets in their month-and-a-half-long season. They showed individual strength in the high hurdles with Al Raymond and George Young, two of the best jumpers in the league. Their other strong area was running, which included the 100-and 200-yard dashes, the 440 and 880, the one mile, the two mile, and the relay. They were generally weak in other areas because they lacked the number of members to back up the high spirit and strong enthusiasm of the boys.

The spirit of the girls' tennis team began long before their first match as they anxiously awaited the completion of their new courts. Unfortunately, the courts were not finished in time, and play resumed for another year at Bird Park. The girls entered all their matches with spirit and enthusiasm. Even though they lost one player who dislocated her shoulder while relaxing after a match, they continued to provide stiff competition as they carried on for the rest of the season.

Bay State All Star members John Todd and Chuck Morris.

This year's baseball team, coached by Mr. Powers, showed typical Walpole spirit. They suffered defeats at the hands of Wellesley and Framingham South but came back later in the season to defeat them the second time around. Fine individual efforts were put forth by John Todd, Chuck Morris, and Jack Dunn, who were elected members of the Bay State All Stars.

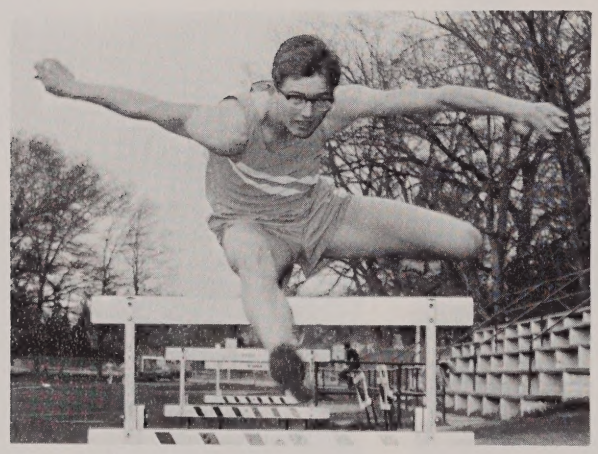
To Al Raymond...

Al sets a new W.H.S. record as he clears the bar at 6' 2".

Ideal Athlete...Friendly Competitor



High jumps or high hurdles—Al sets new records.

To Al Raymond . . . whom I feel exemplifies that ideal athlete . . . one who can play the game for the joy of it . . . rather than for its material rewards . . . plays to win, yes . . . as a friendly competitor. In addition to your high jumping, hurdling, and other athletic abilities, your honest, unassuming attitude makes you an outstanding sportsman . . . rarely defeated in competition and holder of two school records, yet free from conceit and envy . . . I am proud to have been your teammate.

Sincerely,

The People Behind The Scenes

In the tradition of all unsung heroes of the past, this corps of beleaguered warriors has waged a relentless battle against the enemies of mankind: dirt, disease, and starvation. FRESHMAN YEAR

Four years ago we began a memorable voyage through Walpole High School, supplied with only raw courage and a schedule card to help us chart our way through the labyrinthine corridors. We soon realized that there were "Classes, classes every where, but never the one you seek."

The Brobdingnags, or so they seemed, paid little attention to our rather uncertain invasion of their world. Our time was largely spent asking directions, participating in sports and activities, and just getting used to the proud title of "high schoolers."

And it was proudly that we elected Tom Shea as president, Dave Wayne as vice-president, Lisa Okubo as secretary, and Bev Rozman as treasurer to map our course for the year.

We new crew-members were initiated at the Senior Class Dance. Our orders were merely to walk around the gym and to recite poetry, although we had fearfully anticipated endless hours of toting barges and swabbing decks.

On November 22, 1963, John Fitzgerald Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Texas; the entire country mourned his death.

Our annual class dance, held in May, was entitled "Swinging U.S.A." and marked the end of our first year's voyage. It appeared as if after occasional rough sailing we had finally acquired sea-legs.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

As shipmates on our second voyage, we were led by president Steele Lightbody, vice-president Linda Macomber, secretary Kathy Plasmati, and treasurer Cheryl Palmer. Mr Stacy was our new principal.

On port-of-call in England, we held our sophomore dance which was aptly entitled "Young London." The one evening in England seemed long enough, though, as we sedately weighed anchor to the strains of a four-piece dance band. For the second time, Americans had proved their revolutionary spirit to the mother country, and groups replaced bands.

Midway through the voyage, the Navy made an eventful appearance. We, the motely crew, rebelled again, but this time against the ship's rations. After one day without lunch, we decided not to prolong this action since no one caught any fish anyway.

Shortly afterwards, the hockey team won the State Championship by downing those traditional sea-dogs, and was rewarded with a well-deserved trip to Washington, D.C. The team was truly the pride of everyone that year.

There was something foul in the air on our last day of school? Albatrost?

We ended our sophomore year on a very pleasurable, but wet note, with the class trip to Salisbury Beach.

JUNIOR YEAR

Junior year was a drying-out time as we dropped anchor and got down to the more serious business of being upperclassmen. We began with the election of John Todd as president, Joe Bullard as vice-president, Kathy Plasmati as secretary, and Lisa Okubo as treasurer. News of a new dress code soon came from the bridge, and the boys, to oblige, donned ties.

In October, the Northeast power black-out gave us the best excuse we ever had for not doing homework.

Our junior dance had a most unusual theme. We decorated the gym with many varieties of Insecta and called it the "Ugly Bug Ball."

Soon after this adventure, we were busy with preparations for the Junior Prom. The excitement and elegance surrounding the occasion certainly made the prom an "Eve of Enchantment."

In order to increase our class treasury, a car wash was held. We had fun washing all types of vehicles ranging from an oil truck to a Volkswagen (Please note that there was enough water to make even the driest years a little bit wetter).

Throughout the junior year, our classmates were active on Walpole's athletic teams. Many juniors earned letters, and our president pitched a no-hitter.

Bomb scares and door troubles gave us several unexpected days off, and making up these lost days on Saturday was even more unexpected. The record number of bomb scares in one year will probably and hopefully never be equaled.

Approaching the end of our third voyage, we again chose Salisbury Beach for our class outing.

SENIOR YEAR

After three years we finally embarked on the last leg of our voyage; our ship, one-quarter lighter was captained by John Todd, Tom Hamilton served as his first-mate, Kathy Plasmati kept the log, and Lisa Okubo managed to manage shipboard expenses. We were finally officially, and appropriately christened "Rebels."

Again the Student Council Dance was held, but this year it was our own ship's secretary who was chosen "Miss Walpole High." Kathy was a very happy, and fine representative. Our final class dance, "Who's the Greatest?" followed, and we nominated classmates for various honors including the biggest brown nose, the most likely to be embarrassed, and the least civilized.

There was no need for plank-walking on anyone's part after the senior class play, "Onions in the Stew." It was one of the greatest successes of past years, having broken all ticket and attendance records. In keeping with our sea-worthy reputation, we found ourselves on Vashon Island with seaweed-covered actors, water-splashed floors, and an "okey-dokey" plumber.

The prom was "Not to be Forgotten" and it won't be.

Among other things accomplished this year was the successful Student Council endeavor to eliminate finals for qualified Seniors.

Our last sea attack was on Connecticut. We centralized our seige on Ted Hilton's Dude Ranch — and arose victorious.

It is now the time to come to the port of graduation, and although each one of us will have many more memorable voyages, they will never be the same. Captains change, and so do the crews.

Before you accept that first job . . .

Look over your employer as carefully as he does you

What's the Company like anyway? Would I be proud to work there? Reputation for square dealing with employees? Pleasant surroundings?

Will I be working with others my own age? Are they friendly? Do they socialize after hours?

Will the boss be reasonable? Appreciate good, hard work, but won't explode if I make a mistake?

Will I make a decent week's pay? Have a chance for raises, advancement, more responsibility? How about fringe benefits?

Is the work challenging? I had what it takes to get through high school. Will they give me a chance to use my brains?

Note: Many young men and women in this area can answer "Yes" to these questions. They work for New England Telephone.

Why not talk with our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate? Ask your Guidance Counselor to tell you when and where to apply.
